Al Johnson's Successor. Robert E. Wright, who has been ble successor of the late Albert L. Johnson, the deceased president of the Le high Traction company, is a lawyer, banker and business organizer of Allen town, whose fame extends far beyond the city of his home. Mr. Wright was born in Allentown on Feb. 15, 1848, his father having been a prominent lawyer. Mr. Wright, after his admission to the bar in 1868, joined with his father in the legal business, but soon became conspicuous in the development of industrial and financial enterprises. In 1886 he became president of the Allentown National bank, one of the leading and successful establishments of its kind in the Lehigh valley .- He also served as the professional adviser of the Lehigh Valley, the Reading and the New Jersey Central railroad companies. Lately he has been associated with the "Johnson syndicate," in which the famous Cleveland brothers were leaders, in trolley development. His election to the head of the Lehigh Valley traction enterprise would be a normal and natural continuation of his recent and past activities.

Hawk and Partridge In "Reminiscences of a Falconer" Major Fisher describes the tactics of a partridge when pursued by a tame

The falcon was descending upon the partridge when the partridge stopped short and fell to the ground as if dead. He seemed to be lost in the short stubble of the field. He was far too knowing to trust himself again on the wing, and the bawk bad no alternative but to take him on the ground, which he speedily attempted to do.

But on the ground the partridge was far more agile than he, running this way and that with great speed. The hawk would jump awkwardly up and dart after the scudding partridge, who just at the right moment jumped from the ground and over his back, descend ed on the other side and commenced running harder than before.

Time after time this was done. At every attempt the partridge met the ed hackles, in the attitude of a fighting bantam cock, jumping up to avoid be ing clutched whenever the hawk struck at him. In fact, his whole action was that of a plucky little game bantam.

This wer' on for some time, until, as I regret to say, I ended the unequal strife by putting the partridge once more fairly on the wing, when, of course, the bawk readily overtook and captured it, not overmuch to his credit and still less to mine.
